Water samples collected from the VAP were plotted against each other, and the square of the 2 locations were collected after purging 3-8 well volumes Pearson product-moment correlation coefficient (r) with a bladder pump. Temperature, pH, DO, ORP, and for each plot was calculated by use of Microsoft Excel specific conductance of the water typically were measured. spreadsheet package. Two sets of plots were generated during purging by use of a calibrated in-line flowmeter, one including and one excluding the data from through cell. pH was not measured at VAP1, and pH, wells NL4 and GS4D. Data from wells NL4 and GS4D ORP, and DO was not measured in the deepest interval were excluded because these wells are located directly of VAP2 because the probes were broken. Water samples hydraulically downgradient from the landfill and correlations were collected from VAP locations after monitoring tions excluding these wells are more likely to identify established that the field parameters were changing by chemical processes occurring in the ambient aquifer. A less than 10 percent for every gallon of water purged and high degree of correlation was considered to be present 2 after at least three well volumes were purged.
