St. Paul, when using this same word of the Corinthian and Ephesian Churches, alluded to such an act, and that the use of the cross at Baptism was coeval with Christian Baptism itself, which inserts us into His Cross and Passion, and imparts to us its saving virtue. It was plainly also a more pious act, which marked the first approaches to Christian Baptism, in the admission to be Catechumens of the Church, by the solemn impress of the Cross, and so brought them in, as it were, within the outer court, and fenced them round by it, than to leave them stray sheep as before, calling them only by the voice of human shepherds, but in no solemn way of devotion, consecrating these beginnings of their return to the true fold, and to the Shepherd and Bishop of their souls. It would...
